Henry's most recent review of the teams, prior to the season, suggested the Bridgrooms would again be the team to beat. The Keystones, on the other hand, showed little statistical justification for their early dominance.

Chapin Holds Excelsiors Scoreless

The Excelsiors were almost helpless today in their 1-0 loss to the Keystones and hurler Tanner Chapin. Chapin kept the Excelsiors confused all game, spinning a 3-hit shutout.

"Tip your hat to Chapin," manager Tom Stack said in his postgame interview. "He kept us off balance all night."

The 25-year-old right-hander had no walks and 9 strikeouts in a strong performance.

"It just happened to be one of those games where even when I made mistakes, they either fouled them off or someone would make a fine defensive play," Chapin said. "It was just one of those games that things went my way."

Speaking after the game, Knickerbockers manager Jesus Ramirez said "Hester had everything going for him today."

He changed speeds effectively, stayed down, had a lot of movement," he said. "He was masterful."

Hester rung up 5 strikeouts and surrendered no walks in the game.

"We couldn't get anything going. He certainly had our number," manager Chris Webster told reporters.

For the year Hester has a 6-4 record with a 3.41 ERA in 10 starts.
